Frank Moulton's Statement.

New York, August 10.—Frank Moulton was to have read his statement this afternoon. It is reported that it will show that Mrs. Tilton was not adverse to being misled by Beecher.

Frank Moulton submitted his statement to the Committee yesterday, but it will not be published till to-morrow. It is very long, and enclosed all the correspondence in the case. It is claimed by some that it is in Beecher's favor; by others that it is conclusive against him.

The Boy Perhaps.

A boy has been found at Montpelier, Vermont, who gives the name and answers to the description of the abducted boy, Charlie Ross. Questions dictated from Philadelphia by telegraph, were answered by him correctly. The uncle of Charlie Ross will arrive to-day to identify the boy.

Rumors of War.

There are rumors in London of another Ashantee war.

SAN FRANCISCO.

Marine Accident—Mining Dividend—Through Tickets That Won't Carry—A Rough Voyage—An Unfortunate Woman—Fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 10.—The ship David Crockett arrived at Liverpool June 25th. During her voyage her Captain (Burgess) was washed overboard and the ship was wrecked.

Belcher paid a dividend of $31,200 to-day, and suffered a falling off in price to the extent of the dividend paid.

The passengers on MacGregor's line, with through tickets to New York from Sydney cannot yet obtain transportation.

Private letters from passengers by the Mikado to Australia, state that they experienced a very rough voyage. The flues burst, the engine got out of order, and the vessel was in imminent danger of being totally lost. They, however, praise the conduct of her officers.

Mrs. Barrett, who was so terribly beaten by her husband on Sunday, is still alive, but there is but little hope for her recovery. Her husband is in prison.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 11.—A fire occurred in the establishment of Noble & Gallagher, Jackson street, this morning, which did damage to the extent of about $7,500.

The inquest on the Bourn suicide case will be resumed to-day.

Flags on the Merchants' Exchange and shipping in the harbor are at half-mast to-day in honor of the memory of Capt. Burgess, of the ship David Crockett.

Col. James Gamble, Superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company, returned from Astoria and Portland last night. He went on a tour of inspection, and to examine the feasibility of further telegraphic extensions in Oregon and Washington Territory.

Something of Interest to the Grangers.

From the Michigan Farmer. The New York Times, in its financial article recently contained the following: "Advices received by an eminent bank firm show that a serious awakening among the Grangers is imminent, and that they are beginning to view with some apprehension the strong hostile feeling their policy has evoked in the center of Eastern capital. It is a fact that a number of leading houses in Canada and the East have communicated with some of the heaviest firms in Milwaukee, inviting them to close their accounts, and signifying their intention to withdraw their interests from sections in which the Grange sentiment is so overwhelming. They say they will not subject themselves to the risks of business under such arbitrary and even coercive restrictions as I understand. It was also reported that the Astors, Moses Taylor, and others, leading New York capitalists, have decided to withhold all contemplated investments, and withdraw their existing interests from the danger of such control. It is very evident that in the event of any further aggressive movement against capital in the West, the East is prepared to resort to very extreme measures against the States so influenced, both as means of self-protection and retaliation." Business is business, and not politics. While the Northwest has land and labor, to render either of these of service capital is necessary. To render capital service is to put a stop to improvements, and must enhance interests, must depreciate the price of labor, must decrease the consumption of crops, and generally must lower the price of land. Wisconsin is trying this as an experiment, and the problem is not yet solved. The above announcement would indicate that there is an element about to be introduced to the consideration of the people, that should make us reflect well on the situation. It will not do to be lulled asleep by impracticable theorists, who do not risk a dollar, but who undertake to deal with the business and property that feeds, clothes and keeps at work thousands.—[Michigan Farmer.]

The San Jose Mercury says: "The Post and the Commercial Herald are conspicuous in their sneers at what they term the grain speculations of the farmers. The farmers have not turned speculators in the sense implied by these journals. They are simply carrying to market the product of their own labor; they are not buying the products of others to resell at a profit; they are simply selling what they themselves produced."

"What would I not give," said Charles Lamb, "to call my dear mother back to earth for a single day, to ask her pardon upon my knees for all those acts by which I grieved her gentle spirit."

He seldom lives frugally who lives by chance. Hope is always liberal and they that trust her promises make little scruple of reveling to-day on the profits of to-morrow.—[Johnson.]

Pathetic appeal of a Chicago express driver during the fire: Do you want to see your family beggared before your face? Wake up and be a man! I'll save you for fifty dollars!

Indianapolis women are relating little reminiscences of how they used to romp with Henry Ward Beecher. "But, sir," they add, "I was very young."

The Hub is gratified, as regards the foliage of the Common, that the diet of worms has been adopted by its sparrow-chial guardians.—[N. Y. World.]

A woman's heart is the only true place for a man's likeness. An instant gives the impression, and an age of sorrow and change cannot efface it.

That alone is true philosophy which repeats the words of the universe with fidelity, and is written, as it were, by dictation of the universe.—[Bacon.]

Miss Hope Scott, the grandniece of Sir Walter Scott, and mistress of Abbotsford, is soon to be married to the Honorable Joseph Maxwell.

A dispatch from Lausanne, Switzerland, to identify the dead body of the Reverend Mr. Goodrich, a grandson of Noah Webster.

The strongest propensity in woman's nature, says a surly editor, is a desire to know what is going on, and the next to manage the job.

Our Water Supply.

Our citizens are apt to complain of the quality of water furnished them, and some find fault with both the quality and quantity. By-and-by we shall confine ourselves almost exclusively to the latter half of the complaint. Where the future city of Los Angeles is to obtain her supply of water, is one of the unsolved problems. The present water company is, if we are correctly informed, entitled to but ten inches of water from the river. That, even with the reservoir accumulation, scarcely meets the present demands of the company. What will they do when the city numbers twenty thousand people? The company's present facilities are inadequate, and thoughtful citizens are asking themselves where Los Angeles is to obtain her supply of water. It cannot be had from the springs and the ten-inch river stream. It is doubtful, more than doubtful, if artesian wells may be sunk. The experiments of Mr. BEAUDRY in that direction have not been encouraging. When the field has been carefully surveyed, the conclusion is almost inevitable that at no distant day Los Angeles will be supplied with water pumped from the river near the crossing of the San Fernando railroad or from wells sunk in the low lands in front of the city. The extensive and expensive operations of Mr. BEAUDRY are, it seems to us, steps in the right direction. He has an exhaustless supply of water, and as the demand on the hill lands increases, he has but to increase his power for throwing water into the reservoir on the highest point. All, or nearly all, of the water used in this city must in a short time be pumped from the vicinity of Mr. BEAUDRY's well. The localities where water may be obtained near the surface will soon be held among the most valuable in the suburbs of the city.

Industrial Condition of the Slope.

Under this head, the Alta California of the 3d inst. treats us to an editorial of considerable length, from which we extract the following, which is of special interest to the citizens of Los Angeles county: "There are now Alden fruit-drying houses at San Lorenzo, Centerville, Sonoma, San Jose and Vacaville. The first has five chimneys or dryers, the second and third three each, and the fourth and fifth two each. The daily product of each dryer is estimated to be worth one hundred dollars; equivalent for all of $1,500 per day, or $270,000 for a working season of one hundred and eighty days. Last year the San Lorenzo establishment was the only one. Machinery has been ordered for three dryers, to be erected at Los Angeles, and Sacramento and Sonoma will probably be provided soon. The Sonoma drying house will go into raisins extensively; that at Vacaville into raisins and figs. At Los Angeles, experiments will be made with citron, orange peel and oranges. Apples and pears sliced and pitted plums require from two to four hours and grapes and prunes, because (on account of the obstacles offered by their skin to evaporation) from six to eight hours. An idea prevails among persons who have had some experience in these drying houses, that they will give a great stimulus to the cultivation of the apricot, prune and plum, which in the dried form are either scarce or command high prices. Dried apples, peaches and pears are produced in large quantities in the Eastern States, and it is not to the interest of California to undertake to compete with them. Enough white Muscat grapes will be converted into raisins this year to show what California can do in that line. We expect them to command a price fully equal to the best imported. Our vineyardists have shown much enterprise by importing all the most noted varieties of European grapes; but they have until lately overlooked the Peruvian Huasco, cuttings of which have been ordered by several gentlemen. We have tasted some Huasco raisins dried in the shade. They have a strong, peculiar and pleasant flavor and aroma, are large in size, have small seeds, and deserve to rank among the best. They will in a few years be numerous in California. Since the drawbacks to the profit of wine-making, from the high costly casks and the internal revenue oppressions on distillation have been felt, the attention of grape growers has been turned to raisins, and several of the largest vineyards in the Sierra Nevada have been or are to be grafted into the white Muscat, which is much preferred for raisins to any other grape in the State. The Huasco will be its rival.

Railroad Extension.

The railroad magnates from headquarters have arrived, and yesterday they went down in a body to Anaheim. They will view the ground, look over the maps, select the route and set the graders at work, and in a little time the good people of Anaheim will hear the scream of the locomotive. It is understood the track will be completed as soon as possible, which means in a few weeks at the outside. This will give us thirty miles of railroad extending out from the city through a very rich and already well populated portion of the valley. No railroad in the world runs over a more productive section than the Los Angeles and Anaheim branch. Every acre for miles on each side of the track will produce anything grown in the ground, and every ten acres of this land will support a family of five or six persons. It is rumored and the rumor is probably well founded, that we are to have railroad extension in another direction. It is expected that the Southern Pacific will be extended from its present terminus at Spadra on to San Bernardino, a distance of some thirty miles. If the company have decided to do this, it will give us a piece of road which will prove of great advantage to the people of Los Angeles and San Bernardino, besides, opening up rapid communication through a fine agricultural section of the valley.

A LATE dispatch from Salt Lake says a large party of Mormons are preparing to leave that section for San Bernardino, where they propose to settle. We do not understand that these people propose calling themselves a Mormon colony. They are most likely those who have wearied of the faith and have decided to abjure the doctrine. If so they will receive a hearty welcome from the people of California.

The first number of the Garden City Times, San Jose's new daily, is received. Its columns are wide and twenty-eight in number. It is published by a corporate association, composed of eight persons, all of whom are engaged on the paper in some capacity. From the introductory remarks we learn that the Times aspires to the position of a "fearless, outspoken, independent journal."

KATIE KING the little girl who died one hundred years ago and whose spirit recently visited and talked with the English scientists, has promised to attend a series of seances in San Francisco. She will show herself and speak with the audience.

LETTER FROM COMPTON.

Local Option—A Pronounced Temperance Community—The Harvest Festival—A Good Time Generally. EDITOR HERALD:—We have been having fine times in our neighborhood of late, and we want other folks to know about it. In the first place our election on Local Option came off on Thursday, August 6th, which resulted in a glorious victory for the cause of temperance. There were fifty-six votes polled, fifty-four for "no license" two for license. We ask men who have families and are looking for homes where they can raise up their boys with habits of sobriety, and without the fear of the baneful influence of the liquor traffic, to make a note of this and come where they can find homes in a sober, moral and religious community.

THE GRANGERS Of Compton celebrated their first anniversary in a grove about one mile from the depot, on Saturday last by giving a grand picnic or harvest feast, to which everybody in the community had been invited. At an early hour the grove was thronged with people all dressed in their "Sunday rig," and showing by their smiles that they had come to have a good time. There were seats prepared for several hundred persons all of which were well filled, and a great many who could not get seats were left the alternative of leaning against willows. We had a well-selected choir composed of Prof. Lewis and wife of Los Nietos, and Mr. and Mrs. Rowell, and Mrs. Willey of Florence. Miss Annie Brown of Compton, presided at the organ, and performed her part most gracefully; the music both vocal and instrumental was all that could be desired.

HON. A. HIGGIE Delivered the oration, which was pronounced excellent by all present. It was short, sharp and to the point, the speaker was frequently interrupted by cheering from the enthusiastic audience, and we think it will be the means of causing many to join the Grange who otherwise would not have done so. Short addresses were also delivered by R. C. W. Tarr, Rev. J. K. Morris, Messrs. Bullis, Hathorne, Russell and others. E. R. Wiley of Silver Grange recited an original poem, entitled "The Grangers" with excellent effect. Bro. W. would do well to cultivate his poetic talent. And last but not least the dinner or harvest feast was all that could be desired, the hundreds who were present were all well fed, and I can assure you that there were more than "twelve baskets full" of fragments left upon the table; the afternoon we spent in having a good time generally. Thus closed the day, and all went away feeling happier for having spent a day at a Granger picnic. MORE anon.

Compton, August 10th, 1874.

Wouldst with thyself be acquainted? Then see what the others are doing. But wouldst thou understand others? Ask into thine own heart.—[Schiller.]

POSTAL CHANGES.

The following postal changes went into operation, July 1st, 1874: All publications are free of postage to subscribers in the country in which they are published. Books and packages of merchandise to the weight of four pounds, can be sent by mail at the rate of one cent for every two ounces or fraction over. Tied packages may be entirely enclosed. Some portion of sealed packages must be opened for inspection.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Senator sailed yesterday for San Francisco.

The Fall session in Wilmington College will open next Monday.

Mr. V. Beaudry, one of the owners of the Cerro Gordo mine, is in the city for a short visit.

There are telegrams at the Western Union Telegraph Office for Warren Henderson and J. Hanson Day.

The schooner Phil Sheridan arrived yesterday with coal for the gas works, and lime for Perry, Woodworth & Co.

A new military organization has been formed here of the colored population. It is called the Temple Guard, and numbers thirty members.

Agency Imperial of London and Queen of Liverpool Insurance Companies; capital, $18,000,000. John Carlin, agent, Room 3, Downey block.

There will be a special convention of Olive Lodge, No. 26, K. of P. on Thursday evening next, for the purpose of adopting by-laws, etc. All members are requested to be present.

A stout saloon-keeper who is building a fine house on Main street, had a little difference with one of the plasterers in his employ yesterday. The knight of the trowel came out second best in the melee and was badly demoralized.

Mr. W. R. Olden was in the city yesterday to close the contract with Mr. Salisbury on the part of the Anaheim company for the building of the Bolsa China wharf. The enterprise will now be pushed forward to a speedy completion.

A hoodlum broke into the colored school the other day, and stole several articles belonging to the scholars. Officer Thomas captured the young culprit, but in consideration of his tender years, dismissed him with no worse punishment than a little good advice.

Mr. Tell takes some exceptions to the remarks of our morning cotemporary in calling his seaside retreat a "hostelry," and in saying that his countrymen gave him a benefit last Sunday. He claims that his place is not one of that kind, and he don't take benefits. A misunderstanding of terms, that's all.

A team belonging to Nicolas Quirola attached to a heavy truck, ran away on Los Angeles street, yesterday, carrying dire destruction to about thirty feet of awning, uprooting a large hitching post, and doing other curious and dangerous things. They were finally stopped, and both team and vehicle were found to be intact.

Micky Free went on a spree, and he was drunk as drunk could be. The whisky and beer made him feel so queer that he stood on his head and he stood on his ear; and he tumbled and rolled like a porpoise at sea, did this Micky Free; but, do what he would, Micky Free could not, sit stand or walk in a ten-acre lot.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of the Commercial Restaurant, J. D. Connor, proprietor, which appears this morning. Mr. Connor furnishes his tables with the best which the market affords, served up in the most approved style, and his terms are as reasonable as those of any good restaurant in the city.

John Purpura thanks his friends and patrons for their liberal patronage. He has enlarged his barber shop and fitted it up in elegant style. He has also added another chair, and engaged one of the best barbers of San Francisco, Mr. Caruso, who will be in this city in a few days. There are now in the shop three first-class workmen. John solicits the patronage of all.

A hack and a hotel coach had a scrub race down Commercial street yesterday. The hack ran into a wagon in which Pedro Piliara was seated with his wife and several children, and came very near doing some serious damage. As it was, the party was badly shaken, but the wagon and the wagon was broken. Piliara now wants damages from the hack-driver, and he should have them.

Mr. Olden, of Anaheim, brought to our office yesterday two leaves of tobacco grown from Florida seed by Mr. John Goedell, on Coyote Creek, seven miles west of Anaheim. The leaves measure thirty-five inches in length by eighteen in breadth; the stems and ribs are exceptionally small, and the tissue very thin and devoid of pulpy matter. They were taken from a stalk seven feet high, which bore full. This was raised with very little irrigation. Nobody disputes the fact now that our soil and climate are capable of producing as fine a quality of tobacco as grows from the earth.

The Good Templars' Social was a most enjoyable affair last night. The attendance was large, and composed of many besides the worthy Templars themselves, who were drawn in by the attractions which these socials always offer. The pleasure of the evening was much augmented by music and literary exercises, prominent among which we can mention the reading of a poem, entitled "The Guard's Story," by Miss Yda Addis; a song, "Pass Under the Rod," by Miss Nellie White; some apt recitations and imitations of song and anecdote by Mr. Saxon; songs by the Misses White, Miss Whisler, Mr. Locke and others. The inner man was not forgotten, and refreshments suited to the occasion were supplied in abundance. These socials as given by the Good Templars are always pleasant occasions, and they could occur oftener with much satisfaction to all concerned.

THE GRANGERS ABROAD.

A Picnic in the Woods—How They Did It—A Gala Day Among the Comptons.

A cloudless sky, an effulgent sun, spreading a soft, silvery sheen upon a scene of rural beauty; an immense plain, dotted here and there with cosy homes, groves of willows, huge fields of corn with the bright green foliage waved to and fro by the soft breath of the mid-summer air; the tall peaks of the Sierra Madre in the distance, half veiled in the sluggish haze, forming a picture of more than passing loveliness; the sun diffusing a seeming shimmer over the quiet scene; a smooth road, free from dust; a good team, pleasant companions, and a select budget of fun from which to choose for the gratification of the mental, the moral, and the epicurean man; ah! who wouldn't be a Granger? Such, Mr. Editor, were the musings of your correspondent as he was whirled rapidly away by a Granger team to attend the celebration of the anniversary of Compton Grange No. 37, P. of H.

PREPARATIONS, LOCALITY, ETC.

For some time past, preparations have been quietly going forward to commemorate by a grand picnic the birth-day of the afore-mentioned Order in this place. The committee to whom the management of the affair was intrusted, matured carefully conceived plans and entered into the spirit of the thing with a zest indicative of their zeal and prognostic of success. And, while the elite of Los Angeles were sweltering under a fiery canopy, or calmly reposing upon the bosom of the scorching sands or disporting in the murky waters of the riotous Pacific at our various watering places, deluded into the belief that those questionable elements are a species for all the ills that flesh is heir to, these hardy sons and daughters of "ye honest farmer" were preparing for their gala day of pleasure in a manner consistent with their desires. Among the numerous entours of the Granger city there is no spot more admirably suited to picnics than what is known as Peck's Grove. The trees are large, tall, and covered with a heavy foliage, which completely excludes the rays of the sun. The undergrowth had been carefully cleared away, a speaker's stand erected, seats arranged, and last, but not least, tables wound in and out among the trees, their dainty white coverings seeming to invite attention from an already appreciative assembly. At the back of the speaker's stand was hung the Granger banner, and in front was a large organ. The Compton choir, led by Prof. Charles Lewis, were to be promptly in attendance, and Hon. Alfred Higbie was to deliver the oration.

THE ARRANGEMENTS WERE COMPLETE.

At 11:30 A. M. of the 8th instant, a large assemblage from various parts of the county had gathered upon the ground and were called to order by Judge J. E. McComas, Master of Ceremonies, who in a few terse and appropriate remarks stated the objects of the gathering, etc. Rev. C. W. Tar, then offered a prayer, after which the Farmer's Declaration of Independence was read. Hon. Alfred Higbie was then introduced, and addressed the assemblage for over an hour upon questions of interest to the Grangers, the issues of the day, they are called upon to meet, and exhorting them to stand firmly on the platform of reform which they have adopted. Space will not permit me to give a synopsis of his able and eloquent appeal. At the close Mr. Willey rendered an excellent original poem entitled "The Granger Band." Several speakers followed, among whom was the Rev. C. W. Tar. The ceremonies were interspersed with appropriate music by the choir, Miss Annie Brown presiding at the organ, and if I am not trespassing, Mr. Editor, permit me to say the young lady acquitted herself in a highly creditable manner. At the close the audience were treated to a feast in every respect worthy the order. In truth, sir, I think the highest commendation that could be bestowed upon it would be to say, it was a Granger Feast.

MUSIC.

When the busy throng around the tables had begun to disperse, the loud calls for music induced Prof. Lewis and his talented lady to gratify their friends with one of the most pleasant musical entertainments to which it has been my pleasure to listen in this county. The Professor was in his happiest mood, and rendered several pieces with a touching power and pathos. After the old folks had departed, music and dancing was the order of the day, and your correspondent not being dissatisfied with the Terpsichorean, left the young people to the enjoyment of their seductive pleasure. The utmost good order prevailed throughout the day, and for the nonce the "gentle hoodlums" failed to put in an appearance. On the whole it was a most enjoyable affair and will linger long in the memory of J. A. Y. Compton, August 10th.

NOTES OF TRAVEL.

Lyon Station—Elizabeth Lake—Large Ranches—Immense Herds—San Francisco Canyon—Fort Tejon.

EDITOR HERALD:—Leaving the beautiful and interesting city of Los Angeles by the half-past eleven o'clock train, we whirled across the beautiful San Fernando valley to the rising town of San Fernando, which is rapidly growing in size and importance, and taking the stage after a few miles began the ascent of the San Fernando Pass, which is a cut a quarter of a mile long and one hundred feet deep through the mountain. We soon arrive at Lyon Station, which is quite a resort for tourists and is a beautiful place, surrounded by groves of oak and sycamore trees, and which is destined to become

A PLACE OF NO LITTLE IMPORTANCE. There is a store and telegraph office here, besides the hotel and the oil refinery, which at present is not refining any oil, the new process having done away with the old method. After leaving here, we emerged into the valley of the upper Santa Clara river, which is a splendid valley about eight miles long and six miles wide, and is covered with a heavy growth of white-oak timber. The Santa Clara river runs through the middle of this valley, making it a desirable place to settle,

After crossing the river, we entered the San Francisco Canyon, which is twenty miles long and one hundred yards wide. For several miles we were completely walled in by mountains a thousand feet high. It was a most gloomy place, and we were glad when we had passed beyond its narrow limits.

Many years ago

A WATER-SPOUT.

Fell in this cañon and drowned some unfortunate emigrants that were passing through.

Reaching the summit of the mountain, a fair panorama met our view. Elizabeth Lake lay calmly beneath us, and a vast plain level as a table stretched away to the horizon in our east, while to the north and west a range of blue mountains could be seen in the dim distance. They were a spur of the Sierra Nevada descending to the plain. We soon came to Elizabeth Lake, which is a small settlement mostly of Spanish people. The lake is situated in a basin surrounded by low hills; the water is not fit to drink tasting strongly of alkali. There are many large cattle ranches in the vicinity of this place, and the plains are covered with bands of sheep. After leaving the lake we traveled many miles across the plains until we arrived at the Lieve ranch which is one of the largest sheep ranches in the country. It is the property of General E. F. Beale, who has six large grants all joining at this place making the Lieve one of the most extensive ranches in the State. Arriving at Fort Tejon, we determined to spend a few days at this delightful place.

FORT TEJON.

Was built many years ago by the Government, but was abandoned in 1864, it proving to be on a Spanish grant. The fine buildings are rapidly going to decay, and the fine parade ground which was doubtless once the soldier's pride, is now turned into a sheep corral, and the buildings which were formerly the officer's quarters are now the humble dwellings of the soldiers. Tejon was once a fishing place, several companies of soldiers were stationed here, and there were several stores, blacksmith shops and hotels, but its glory has departed forever, I fear.

With the departure of the boys in blue, the drowsy denizens departed, too.

August 10th, 1874.

W. B. Southern California.

The following, from an editorial in that sterling and always wide-awake journal, the San Francisco Examiner, is no doubt the work of its editor and chief, Hon. P. A. Roach:

There is a vast region of this State which by its productions well deserves the title of semi-tropical California. It is an area of territory far greater in extent than the land whose abundance, in the early ages of civilization, afforded shelter and food to man beneath its vines and fig trees. It is richer in the variety of fruits than the soil of the Holy Land yielded to its inhabitants. In several of the southern counties the olive, the orange and the vine render their luscious treasures with little cultivation. So great is the fertility of the section of the State to which we refer, that in the near future, with a population determined to develop its resources, the wealth derivable from its soil may equal the value of our mineral or cereal productions. The capabilities of that section of our State are being brought to public notice, to encourage the seekers of permanent homes to visit it, by a series of well-written editorials in the Los Angeles Herald. The southern counties of this State are rapidly settling up. Lands are comparatively cheap, and the climates of Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles and Ventura, have already attracted a large influx of permanent inhabitants to those localities. The increase in population in the districts we have named, in the last five years, is something extraordinary.

By the provisions of an ordinance passed by the Council at its last regular session, the regular hack stands are designated as Main street in front of Temple & Workman's bank, and in front of each bank and hotel in the city. Hackmen will be liable to arrest who keep their vehicles standing in other localities, unless waiting specially for a passenger.

PIPIFAX.

This remarkable curative herbal preparation is entirely unlike and greatly superior to any other recuperant ever discovered.

It strengthens the living vital nervous principle, and gives energy to the muscles, nerves, filaments, membranes, and all tissues of the internal organs.

PIPIFAX—Keeps the skin in a supple condition; the cuticle pliant; the pores open; and brings the blood to the surface; thereby enabling the system to counteract these baneful atmospheric influences.

PIPIFAX—Passes through the blood, carries off by perspiration and other excretions the effete and injurious materials of the body. It is soothing, alterative and debrutative. Used methodically and rationally, aided by suitable diet, it produces most important changes in the system, contributing to the reconstruction of tissues, and removes vitiated matter which has become not only useless but injurious. No other article has ever been introduced which combines in such an extraordinary degree the principles of an efficient antibilious agent and tonic. Try it and be convinced. may 29 3m-20
